Dear Myron

Thank you for expressing your interest in starting a partnership with Bobby's Salvage yard. In order to give you a more concrete answer I would need to discuss further details of your intentions. At Bobby's Salvage Yard we have a lot of space for storage. However, due to regulations and the sensitivity of the elements we handle we can not accept anything into our yard without further inspection. At this moment our company is expanding to a new facility and if the conditions are right we would be willing to look into forming a 10-year partnership with Dharma initiative in order to provide our services but specifically catered to your needs. If you are still interested in starting this partnership, I will need further details as to what types of metals you will be storing, where they come from and how long they will be stored for amongst other things. The sooner you can get back to me the more details I will be able to provide as to if we believe the partnership will be beneficial to us.

Sincerely,
Nico Gonzalez
